NEW ZEALAND RUGBY TRADING CARDS

Tap'N'Play are releasing a fantastic (453 card) New Zealand Rugby Trading Card series for you to collect and swap with friends. The packs of cards will feature all the great New Zealand men and women rugby players from:

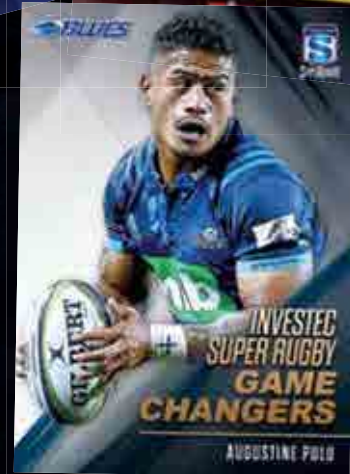

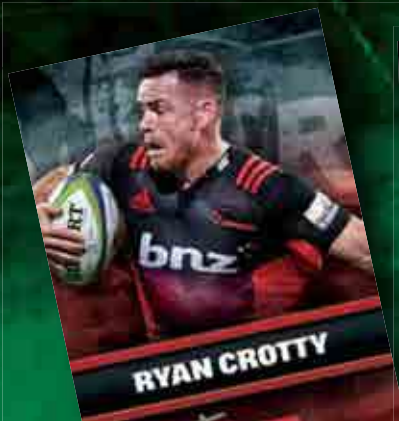

1. All Blacks
2. All Five New Zealand Investec Super Rugby Teams
3. All Black Sevens
4. Black Ferns
5. Black Fern Sevens
6. New Zealand Rugby Former Greats

Every pack of New Zealand Rugby Trading Cards contains nine cards of which there are eight base player cards, PLUS one special insert card. The special insert cards vary in every pack. The rarest and most valuable cards are the authentic player Signature Cards. This year there are twelve players signing 200 cards each so 2400 of these will be randomly inserted into every 90th pack, which means they are like a "lucky dip". Each player's signature card is also numbered from 001 to 200. The lower the number in the set, the more valuable the card.

The players who are signing cards for the first Trading Card release are:

Kieran Read All Blacks	Samuel Whitelock Crusaders
Israel Dagg All Blacks	Ben Smith Highlanders
Aaron Smith All Blacks	Beauden Barrett Hurricanes
Brodie Retallick All Blacks	Scott Curry All Black Sevens
Rieko Ioane Blues	Portia Woodman Black Fern Sevens
Damian McKenzie Chiefs	Kendra Cocksedge Black Ferns

SOME WICKED FACTS...

1. Trading Cards can be valuable... Trading card collecting began in America with Baseball Cards, some of these from the early days fetch a million dollars
2. Trading cards are Works of Art — the designs are stunning. New Zealand Rugby are very fortunate to have our cards designed by the same people that design the American NBA (Basketball) cards, which are considered some of the best in the world.

TIPS FOR NEW COLLECTORS...

1. Focus on a collecting a few teams to start with like (e.g. Crusaders and All Blacks) then work out from there for the rest of the set.
2. Try and get your friends involved so you can swap duplicates.
3. Tap'N'Play will publish a Checklist online listing all the cards and how rare cards are — it is important for you to understand the value of the special cards when you are trading cards with friends.
4. Store your cards in a Trading Card Album — Albums protect your Rugby Cards and also allows you to easily show friends and family your collection
5. All cards are numbered on the back so keep your sets organised in number order to make cards easy to find.
6. Understand the value of cards before swapping, especially the rare cards.
7. Trade Duplicates - Generally, there is much more value to be had in trading rather than selling a card.
